1. All Latin American Ambassadors will be requested to be at their posts by Sunday morning except possibly for Ambassador Mann. He would be withheld only if decided to use him as an emissary.

2. About 12 hours before a Presidential speech, each Ambassador would be requested to inform his Foreign Minister that the US had intelligence information which suggested that some time in the next few days there might be a widespread and concerted effort on the part of the Communists and their sympathizers to create riot and disorder, if possible upset governments, and attack American Government and other property and persons. They would suggest that quiet steps be taken promptly to be in readiness for such possibility. They should be informed that, if such disorders break out and they need additional riot control equipment, they should consult the Ambassador who will be able to arrange prompt deliveries. They should also be informed that if they feel their government is in danger because of inability to deal with the situation and if they wish for the assistance under the terms of the Rio Pact and the Punta-del Este resolutions of American military personnel to deal with these Communist efforts, such personnel will be available to come in by sea or air. At same time they should ask for an appointment with the top official in town for time of President's speech. (See Tab A for instructions to Ambassador.)

3. As of the time of the President's speech our Ambassadors should call upon the chiefs of state or next highest ranking official and present them with a copy of the President's message. They should urge them to make as promptly as possible public statements in support of the President's position. Each Ambassador will have to be given some discretion as to how hard they should press for such statement depending upon their appraisal of the possibility of it being a favorable one from our standpoint. At the same time the Ambassador should inform the official that, at the earliest possible date, and not later than the following morning if the speech is given in the evening, a meeting of the OAS Council will be held at the US request to authorize a meeting of the Organ of Consultation of the Inter-American System under the Rio Pact. The presentation of the case for such a meeting will be made by the Secretary. We hope they could instruct their representative at that meeting by most rapid possible means to support the US proposal. They should

Dear Mr. President:

We face the necessity and the opportunity in this Hemisphere of effecting by the wisdom of our joint action in the next few days the whole future of man on this earth.

You will have seen from the text of my statement to the American people, a copy of which is enclosed, the grave nature of the threat to the whole Western Hemisphere which the present regime in Cuba has permitted the USSR to establish on its soil.

But this is not just a matter of a military threat to us. Such action by the Soviet Union in the face of our well-known and long cherished Hemisphere defense and security arrangements and its continuance in the face of my warning of September 4, well-known to them, represents a bold challenge to all free peoples and all we stand for.

Unless we show a united resolve in the face of this rash move, we can expect the Soviet Union to move to more and more flagrant violations of the requirements of international peace and liberty until we shall have no choice left to us but complete surrender or the initiation of a nuclear holocaust.

We must make a stand now; the whole world will be watching us.

I hope in these circumstances you will feel that your country will wish to join my own in expressing its outrage at this Cuban and Soviet behavior, and that you may wish to describe publicly how your people feel.

I hope also that you will agree with me on the necessity of calling a meeting of the Organ of Consultation of the Inter-American System under the Rio Pact without any delay.

The US will propose that that body, once assembled, adopt promptly a resolution, the proposed text of which my Ambassador will be able to give you, authorizing the action provided for in Article 8 of the Rio Pact against Cuba, as a threat to the peace in accordance with the terms of Article 6 of that Pact. I hope you will agree that such action is urgently required.

I also wish to invite you to have your military officials discuss with mine the possibility of participation on some appropriate basis with US and other Hemisphere forces in any military action which the developing situation in Cuba may require.

I feel sure that by our common approach to this threat through wise measures which combine the

Dear Mr. President:

We face the necessity and the opportunity in this Hemisphere of effecting by the wisdom of our joint action in the next few days the whole future of man on this earth.

You will have seen from the text of my statement to the American people, a copy of which is enclosed, the grave nature of the threat to the whole Western Hemisphere which the present regime in Cuba has permitted the USSR to establish on its soil.

But this is not just a matter of a military threat to us. Such action by the Soviet Union in the face of our well-known and long cherished Hemisphere defense and security arrangements and its continuance in the face of my warning of September 4, well-known to them, represents a bold challenge to all free peoples and all we stand for.

Unless we show a united resolve in the face of this rash move, we can expect the Soviet Union to move to more and more flagrant violations of the requirements of international peace and liberty until we shall have no choice left to us but complete surrender or the initiation of a nuclear holocaust.

We must make a stand now; the whole world will be watching us.

I hope in these circumstances you will feel that your country will wish to join my own in expressing its outrage at this Cuban and Soviet behavior, and that you may wish to describe publicly how your people feel.

I hope also that you will agree with me on the necessity of calling a meeting of the Organ of Consultation of the Inter-American System under the Rio Pact without any delay.

The US will propose that that body, once assembled, adopt promptly a resolution, the proposed text of which my Ambassador will be able to give you, authorizing the action provided for in Article 8 of the Rio Pact against Cuba, as a threat to the peace in accordance with the terms of Article 6 of that Pact. I hope you will agree that such action is urgently required.

I also wish to invite you to have your military officials discuss with mine the possibility of participation on some appropriate basis with US and other Hemisphere forces in any military action which the developing situation in Cuba may require.

I feel sure that by our common approach to this threat through wise measures which combine the firmness and the restraint which the grave nature of the crisis calls for, we shall move onto a new plane of progress for the free world with reduced fears of the prospect of world domination by international communism.

1. Whereas, the Inter-American Treaty of Reciprocal Agreement of 1947 (Rio Treaty) recognizes the obligation of mutual assistance and common defense among the American Republics and provides for effective reciprocal assistance to meet armed attacks against any American state and to deal with threats of aggression against any of them;

2. Whereas, the Seventh Meeting of Consultation of Ministers of Foreign Affairs, held in San José, Costa Rica, condemned the intervention or the threat of intervention of extracontinental communist powers in the hemisphere and reiterated the obligation of the American states to observe faithfully the principles of the regional organization;

3. Whereas, the Eighth Meeting of Consultation of Ministers of Foreign Affairs in Punta del Este in January 1962 agreed to urge the member states to take those steps that they may consider appropriate for their individual or collective self-defense, and to cooperate, as may be necessary or desirable, to strengthen their capacity to counteract threats or acts of aggression, subversion, or other dangers to peace and security resulting from the continued intervention in this hemisphere of Sino-Soviet powers;

5. Whereas, incontrovertible evidence has appeared that the Government of Cuba has permitted the establishment of intercontinental and middle range missile bases on its territory by Sino-Soviet powers. These bases combined with the military equipment and installations previously known and publicized have provided the Government of Cuba with a weapons system which threatens the peace and security of the Hemisphere.

Therefore, the Organ of Consultation meeting in accordance with Articles 6 and 8 of the Rio Treaty at Washington in October 1962 does hereby resolve:

That in accordance with Articles 6 and 8 of the Rio Treaty member states should take all measures, individually or collectively, including the use of armed force, which they may deem necessary to ensure that the weapons system in Cuba cannot be used to disrupt the peace and security of the Hemisphere.
